Lockable storage installations are on the rise. A wide array of cages and locker styles and types are available, serving diverse purposes including schools, tenant facilities, law enforcement, and autonomous parcel delivery, among others.

Kraftwerks furnishes and installs Penco lockers, WireCrafters caging, and Pentagon shutters to name just a few. And we service everything we install.

The following case study exhibits how we delivered an efficient, safe, and attractive locker room application for Sweet Home Central School District.

Case Study Spotlight Sweet Home Central School District (CSD)

The athletic locker room facilities at Sweet Home CSD had become outdated and showed significant signs of wear after years of intensive student use. The district aimed to modernize the lockers, enhance circulation routes within the locker rooms, and incorporate suitable benches to improve overall functionality.

In collaboration with the school's architect, utilizing the existing design, and coordinating with a general contractor, the locker room layout was revised to enhance operational efficiency.

Selecting the right lockers and benches and strategically placing them for optimal storage and use was paramount in order to meet the needs of the school.

- Installed ultra-durable lockers engineered to endure 'hard' use by students for an extended period of time.
- Optimized the existing space to accommodate additional lockers within the same footprint.
- Installed three distinct bench designs to ensure ADA compliance and provide convenient seating or storage while accessing lockers.
- Enhanced aesthetics with wooden benches and lockers coordinated to match the school's colors.

The resulting locker rooms, completed on-time and in-budget, increased capacity, met safety requirements, and were visually appealing.
